PLENARY INDULGENCE—The faithful may obtain a plenary indulgence—a remission before God of the temporal punishment for a previously forgiven sin—by visiting a minor basilica. To obtain a plenary indulgence during a pilgrimage to a basilica, one must participate in any sacred rite or recite the Lord’s Prayer or the profession of faith while there, then go to Confession and Communion, and pray for the intention of the pope. ~ taken from The Register, Salina Diocese newspaper

Marriages Not Made in Heaven

“Unless the marriage is unlawful.” That phrase in today’s gospel is known as the exceptive clause, an exception to the prohibition of divorce. In the gospels (Mk 10:2, Mt 19:3, Lk 16:18) Jesus forbids remarriage after a divorce, but in this passage (Mt 5:31) he allows a marriage that is not valid to be annulled.

The teaching of Christ on divorce surprised his audience. He insisted on the permanent commitment of marriage as the design of God (Gen 2:24). He condemned remarriage after divorce, not divorce itself. And he gave women the same rights and obligations as men. “Whoever divorces his wife and marries another commits adultery against her; and if she divorces her husband and marries another, she commits adultery.” (Mk 10:11) Same rights, same obligations.

In modern society many people have difficulty with the gospel ideal of marriage. Some are trapped in destructive marriages through little or no fault of their own. Pope Francis was sensitive to such difficult situations in his letter on Christian marriage, Amoris Laetitia, The Joy of Love. He upheld the gospel ideal of a permanent commitment but cautioned against rash judgement of those in difficult relationships.

Pope Francis emphasized that divorced and remarried people are not excommunicated. “They are members of the church and must be welcome in their parish. Not all situations are of the same moral gravity. The church acknowledges situations where for serious reasons, such as the children’s upbringing, a man and woman cannot satisfy the obligation to separate.”

“The divorced and remarried, however, should ask themselves whether or not they made attempts at reconciliation; what has become of the abandoned party; what consequences the new relationship has on the family, the community of the faithful, and young people preparing for marriage.”

“These imperfect realities of modern families and marriages are known to the mercy of God. Seeing things with the eyes of Christ means not only caring for those in happy and healthy families but also for those who are coping with difficult circumstances. While clearly stating the Church’s teachings, we should avoid judgments that ignore the complexity of human situations. For the sake of truth, we are obliged to exercise careful discernment in the situations of others.”

“Mercy is the consistent theme of Christ. No one can be condemned for ever, because that is not the logic of the Gospel! Here I am not speaking only of the divorced and remarried, but of everyone, in whatever situation they find themselves.”

... and mirth

“My husband and I have a difference of religion. He thinks he is God, and I do not.”
